Hanford Patrol's Emergency Vehicle Operations Course (EVOC) training officers are certified by the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center, the International Association of Directors of Law Enforcement Standards and Training and the Washington State Criminal Justice Training Commission. They provide expert EVOC training to local, state and federal (including military) personnel. EVOC was developed to train law enforcement officers, emergency responders and other driving specialists in techniques necessary to successfully complete their missions in a safe and efficient manner. The only training EVOC course within the Department of Energy, this 1.3-mile asphalt roadway includes a quarter-mile straightaway, nine curves of varying radii, elevation changes and an intersection. An adjacent 160,000-square-foot asphalt skills pad provides a separate area for backing, autocross and SkidCar training.
